

pick of the crop

This home will win your heart

By Simon Youens

Home is where the heart is, and this week's Pick of the Crop is the sort of place that would capture any home-lover's heart.

The villa overlooking Nakalay Bay, is set in an exclusive enclave, just outside Kamala.

This beautiful Thai-influenced villa has been lovingly crafted from a variety of fine woods, and has a unique character all of its own.

Stunning individual pieces of wooden furniture adorn each room, showing what can be achieved if the mind is left to wander.

Wooden floors, high ceilings and ambient lighting, provide a calm and tranquil feeling, allowing you to retreat into its serene and beautiful setting.

The home is set in a beautiful tropical garden with a large triangular swimming pool and terrace.

The pool is big enough for morning swims, poolside parties and would be perfect for hosting an evening of entertainment.

Views of stunning sunsets will have you entranced as you relax and enjoy the cool tropical breeze which flows gently through each well positioned window.

The villa sits on 506sqm of land area and has a Chanote land title, making purchase and freehold ownership available and straightforward.

The 280sqm of living area includes four bedrooms, four bathrooms, a beautiful western kitchen and a large living room, full of luxury furnishings and fittings.

All mod cons are already in place, there is 24hr security, telephone and internet connections, and satellite TV is already connected.

It would be very easy to fall in love with this villa.

The asking price is a very reasonable 22,900,000 baht. To find out more about this property, email Simon Youens at simon@aquapropertygroup.com
